

Tahani Mansour, PharmD '13 Alumni Scholarship
Deadline: March 1, 2021

This annual scholarship is to be awarded to a student pharmacist who shares the interests of Tahani Mansour, graduate of the class of 2013. Tahani and her legacy will live on through this award and the student pharmacists who are the recipients. Sadagah jariyah, which translates to “ceaseless charity” – means that both the donor and the receiver realize the benefits of this award. In the spirit of Tahani’s giving nature, this generous gift is reflective of her values.

Eligibility requirements:

- Underrepresented minority student
- First generation college student
- From an underserved community
- Preference given to P3 and P4 students

Application requirements:

- CV; and
- One page essay addressing one of the following questions:
 - Why are you dedicated to continuous professional development?
 - Why is a focus on medication safety important?
 - How do you intend to be an advocate for interprofessional teamwork?
 - How do you intend to establish new pharmacy services and/or give back to the profession?
 - How have you demonstrated resiliency?

Please submit this application, CV and essay:

- Via email - finaid@neomed.edu; or
- Upload on Banner Self Service - Select Personal Information from the menu, and then select Secure Document Upload. Choose FA Scholarship Application as type of document, then press submit. A green box will appear in the upper right corner to let you know that your document was submitted successfully.

If I am selected for the scholarship, I hereby give my permission to the University to release directory information to the NEOMED Foundation and to the University's Advancement and Public Relations and Marketing Office. When NEOMED funds are awarded, directory information (which can include student composite, name, and email address), and fund awarded may be disclosed for development and public relations purposes.

Name: _____

NEOMED Student ID: @ _____

Signature: _____ Date: _____