

Tahani Mansour, PharmD '13 Alumni Scholarship

Deadline: September 14th, 2018

This annual scholarship is to be awarded to a student pharmacist who shares the interests of Tahani Mansour, graduate of the class of 2013. Tahani and her legacy will live on through this award and the student pharmacists who are the recipients. Sadagah jariyah, which translates to “ceaseless charity” – means that both the donor and the receiver realize the benefits of this award. In the spirit of Tahani’s giving nature, this generous gift is reflective of her values.

To be considered for this scholarship opportunity, you must meet the below qualifications:

- Underrepresented minority student
- Female gender
- First generation college student
- From an underserved community
- Third year or fourth year student pharmacists will be given preference

Please submit this application and your personal statement to finaid@neomed.edu or in person at the Financial Aid office.

Name: _____

NEOMED Student ID: @ _____

Grad Year: ____ 2019 ____ 2020 ____ 2021 ____ 2022

On a separate page, please submit a 1500-word personal statement addressing one of the following questions:

- Why are you dedicated to continuous professional development?
- Why is a focus on medication safety important?
- How do you intend to be an advocate for interprofessional teamwork?
- How do you intend to establish new pharmacy services and/or give back to the profession?
- How have you demonstrated resiliency?

Signature: _____

Date: _____