

New Question Type Released for NEOMED Testing Software

ExamSoft, the testing software used for NEOMED internal exams, has released a new question type – Hot Spot. Hot spots allow you to designate a location within an image as the correct answer to a question.

If you are a course director who would like to incorporate a hot spot question on future exams, please contact your course coordinator. You can also e-mail questions regarding this new question type to Lisa Morris in Academic services at lmorris@neomed.edu.
