Average Educational Debt

College of Pharmacy | Graduation Years 2022 through 2026

Northeast Ohio Medical University | Office of Institutional Research

Data are current as of the end of each graduation year

Introduction

This report presents average educational debt data for graduates of the NEOMED College of Pharmacy across five graduation years, from 2022 through 2026. Data are drawn from official university records and national surveys.

College of Pharmacy

Figure 1 presents a grouped bar chart comparing average educational debt for NEOMED College of Pharmacy graduates against graduates from All U.S. Institutions for each graduation year. Each bar displays its dollar amount.

Figure 1. Average Educational Debt — College of Pharmacy

Figure 1. NEOMED College of Pharmacy Average Educational Debt vs. All U.S. Institutions — Grouped Bar Chart, Graduation Years 2022 through 2026. Navy bars = NEOMED College of Pharmacy; Teal bars = All U.S. Institutions.

Table 1. Average Educational Debt — College of Pharmacy

Graduation Year	NEOMED College of Pharmacy	All U.S. Institutions
2022	$178,157	$170,444
2023	$172,608	$167,711
2024	$176,195	$170,956
2025	$180,795	$178,642
2026	$175,887	$188,157

Table 1. NEOMED College of Pharmacy average educational debt compared to All U.S. Institutions by graduation year. Amounts reflect average educational debt at graduation. Alternating row shading is decorative only.